SUMMARY

Product leader with 15+ years building 0-to-1 products and scaling them across fintech, developer platforms, and consumer, including: Square's first Invoices mobile app, Mercury's first SaaS line, and Bitcoin self-custody hardware at Block. I'm at my best stepping into organizations that need to build something new, whether a greenfield product line, a new monetization model, or a new market, bringing strategic clarity, hands-on execution, and team-building to get there quickly. Currently at South Park Commons prototyping with LLM-based tools and developing conviction on where durable value accrues as AI shifts products toward agentic experiences. Technical foundation (BSE Computer Engineering, Michigan) paired with business depth (MBA, Chicago Booth).
